

THE CABLES.

A LIVELY DEBATE IN THE GERMAN REICHTAG.

A Socialist Choked Off by the Presiding Officer While Criticizing the Emperor.

A Widespread Revolt in China Against the Present Tartar Dynasty—The Imperial Capital Threatened.

Funeral of Edward Bulwer Lytton, the Diplomat and Author—The Starving Peasantry of the Cant's Dominions—Gossip from the British Capital—Affairs at Rio de Janeiro—Ex-King Milan's Latest Job-Notes.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

WEATHER BUREAU, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, WICHITA, KAN., NOV. 28, 1891.

Forecast for Wichita and vicinity—Fair, nearly stationary temperature.

During the past 24 hours the highest temperature was 49°, the lowest 18° and the mean 31°, with colder cloudless weather, much higher pressure; north winds.

For the past three years the average temperature for the month of November has been 42°, and for the 28th day 31°.

FRED L. JOHNSON, Observer.

WASHINGTON, NOV. 28.—Forecast until 9 p.m., Sunday:

For Missouri: Fair weather, north winds becoming variable. Warmer Monday.

For the Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Kansas: Warmer, south winds, fair weather, warmer and fair Monday.

THE FATHERLAND.

BERLIN, NOV. 28.—The debate in the Reichstag on the bill for the extradition of the emperor's son, Prince Louis, was wonderfully lively. After Herr Buhl, National Liberal, had spoken in defense of the bill, Herr Bismarck, Chancellor, took the floor and spoke in support of the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the tariff. He said: "The American has entered the market of the world, and still hungry. By Christmas, however, it will have what it wants, cheap and enough. American goods are to be sold in the market of the world, and this is a great thing for the American people."

It is announced that Emperor William will supervise the formation of a commission for the reform of the German constitution. The commission will be composed of members of the Reichstag and of the government. It will be charged with the task of preparing a new constitution for the German empire.

THE CHINESE REBELLION. LONDON, NOV. 28.—The Times this morning published a dispatch from its correspondent at Shanghai, which confirms the report that the trouble in China is becoming more serious. It is stated that the rebels are now in possession of the city of Shanghai, and that they are preparing to march on the imperial capital, Peking.

THE TEXAS ALLIANCE. CORPUS, TEX., NOV. 28.—The anti-subversive members of the Farmers' Alliance, in convention here, have reorganized the Texas Alliance. The new constitution provides for the election of a president and a vice president, and for the election of a committee to represent the alliance at the national convention.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY. NEW YORK, NOV. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

BOSTON, NOV. 28.—S. G. Linscott of New York, secretary of the People's United States party, has been arrested by the Boston police. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

THE KIDNAPERS OF THE BEALS BOY BEHIND THE BARS.

The Mysterious Individual Who Received the Ransom from the Banker Yet Undiscovered.

The Abductors Removed to a Suburban Jail in Order to Avoid Mob Law—Their Colorado Career.

A New York Failure Develops Into a Gigantic Fraud—Securities Deposited as Collateral Hypothecated at an Enormous Discount for Loans—The Action of the Stock Exchange in the Matter—Minor Mention.

KANSAS CITY, NOV. 28.—Albert King, alias Dennis, alias Spinoza, who returned the kidnapped Beals child and secured the ransom of $20,000, is now in the city jail. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction, and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $20,000 ransom last night. He was entering a house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night, when he was arrested. He had opened the door to a policeman, who had been placed there in expectation that he might return, placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched, and a revolver was found in his pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He refused to say anything about the abduction. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, NOV. 28.—The attempt of Manager D'Oyley to establish genuine national opera at the Royal English opera house has resulted in failure. His production of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe," of which much was expected, ended in a total failure. The opera was poorly received by the audience, and the manager was forced to cancel the production.

Until the withdrawal of his last piece from the Savoy theater, Mr. Gilbert's name had not been absent from the bills of the London theaters nearly a quarter of a century. His disappearance is, however, only temporary, for, as announced some time ago, he has become reconciled with Sir Arthur Sullivan, and the result will be a renewal of collaboration at the Savoy.

A committee has been formed at Rome for the purpose of erecting a monument to Percy Bysshe Shelley, the great British poet, who was drowned in 1822. The monument will be erected at Viareggio, the city on the Mediterranean coast where the poet was drowned.

EX-KING MILAN. PARIS, NOV. 28.—The newspaper La Paix today has a story which states that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for ex-King Milan's abdication was his desire not to be troubled by the rapid increase of the imperial debt and of the army and navy expenditures. He contended that it was inevitable, the event of war, that a number of the German states should become bankrupt. How, he asked, could such immense masses of troops be longed and fed. Expressions had recently been used which implied that the emperor's soldiers the idea that they might be employed, not only against a foreign foe, but also against an enemy within the empire.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the tariff. He said: "The American has entered the market of the world, and still hungry. By Christmas, however, it will have what it wants, cheap and enough. American goods are to be sold in the market of the world, and this is a great thing for the American people."

It is announced that Emperor William will supervise the formation of a commission for the reform of the German constitution. The commission will be composed of members of the Reichstag and of the government. It will be charged with the task of preparing a new constitution for the German empire.

THE CHINESE REBELLION. LONDON, NOV. 28.—The Times this morning published a dispatch from its correspondent at Shanghai, which confirms the report that the trouble in China is becoming more serious. It is stated that the rebels are now in possession of the city of Shanghai, and that they are preparing to march on the imperial capital, Peking.

THE TEXAS ALLIANCE. CORPUS, TEX., NOV. 28.—The anti-subversive members of the Farmers' Alliance, in convention here, have reorganized the Texas Alliance. The new constitution provides for the election of a president and a vice president, and for the election of a committee to represent the alliance at the national convention.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY. NEW YORK, NOV. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

BOSTON, NOV. 28.—S. G. Linscott of New York, secretary of the People's United States party, has been arrested by the Boston police. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

THE KIDNAPERS OF THE BEALS BOY BEHIND THE BARS.

The Mysterious Individual Who Received the Ransom from the Banker Yet Undiscovered.

The Abductors Removed to a Suburban Jail in Order to Avoid Mob Law—Their Colorado Career.

A New York Failure Develops Into a Gigantic Fraud—Securities Deposited as Collateral Hypothecated at an Enormous Discount for Loans—The Action of the Stock Exchange in the Matter—Minor Mention.

KANSAS CITY, NOV. 28.—Albert King, alias Dennis, alias Spinoza, who returned the kidnapped Beals child and secured the ransom of $20,000, is now in the city jail. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction, and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $20,000 ransom last night. He was entering a house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night, when he was arrested. He had opened the door to a policeman, who had been placed there in expectation that he might return, placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched, and a revolver was found in his pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He refused to say anything about the abduction. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, NOV. 28.—The attempt of Manager D'Oyley to establish genuine national opera at the Royal English opera house has resulted in failure. His production of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe," of which much was expected, ended in a total failure. The opera was poorly received by the audience, and the manager was forced to cancel the production.

Until the withdrawal of his last piece from the Savoy theater, Mr. Gilbert's name had not been absent from the bills of the London theaters nearly a quarter of a century. His disappearance is, however, only temporary, for, as announced some time ago, he has become reconciled with Sir Arthur Sullivan, and the result will be a renewal of collaboration at the Savoy.

EX-KING MILAN. PARIS, NOV. 28.—The newspaper La Paix today has a story which states that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for ex-King Milan's abdication was his desire not to be troubled by the rapid increase of the imperial debt and of the army and navy expenditures. He contended that it was inevitable, the event of war, that a number of the German states should become bankrupt. How, he asked, could such immense masses of troops be longed and fed. Expressions had recently been used which implied that the emperor's soldiers the idea that they might be employed, not only against a foreign foe, but also against an enemy within the empire.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the tariff. He said: "The American has entered the market of the world, and still hungry. By Christmas, however, it will have what it wants, cheap and enough. American goods are to be sold in the market of the world, and this is a great thing for the American people."

It is announced that Emperor William will supervise the formation of a commission for the reform of the German constitution. The commission will be composed of members of the Reichstag and of the government. It will be charged with the task of preparing a new constitution for the German empire.

THE CHINESE REBELLION. LONDON, NOV. 28.—The Times this morning published a dispatch from its correspondent at Shanghai, which confirms the report that the trouble in China is becoming more serious. It is stated that the rebels are now in possession of the city of Shanghai, and that they are preparing to march on the imperial capital, Peking.

THE TEXAS ALLIANCE. CORPUS, TEX., NOV. 28.—The anti-subversive members of the Farmers' Alliance, in convention here, have reorganized the Texas Alliance. The new constitution provides for the election of a president and a vice president, and for the election of a committee to represent the alliance at the national convention.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY. NEW YORK, NOV. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

BOSTON, NOV. 28.—S. G. Linscott of New York, secretary of the People's United States party, has been arrested by the Boston police. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

THE KIDNAPERS OF THE BEALS BOY BEHIND THE BARS.

The Mysterious Individual Who Received the Ransom from the Banker Yet Undiscovered.

The Abductors Removed to a Suburban Jail in Order to Avoid Mob Law—Their Colorado Career.

A New York Failure Develops Into a Gigantic Fraud—Securities Deposited as Collateral Hypothecated at an Enormous Discount for Loans—The Action of the Stock Exchange in the Matter—Minor Mention.

KANSAS CITY, NOV. 28.—Albert King, alias Dennis, alias Spinoza, who returned the kidnapped Beals child and secured the ransom of $20,000, is now in the city jail. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction, and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $20,000 ransom last night. He was entering a house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night, when he was arrested. He had opened the door to a policeman, who had been placed there in expectation that he might return, placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched, and a revolver was found in his pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He refused to say anything about the abduction. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, NOV. 28.—The attempt of Manager D'Oyley to establish genuine national opera at the Royal English opera house has resulted in failure. His production of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe," of which much was expected, ended in a total failure. The opera was poorly received by the audience, and the manager was forced to cancel the production.

Until the withdrawal of his last piece from the Savoy theater, Mr. Gilbert's name had not been absent from the bills of the London theaters nearly a quarter of a century. His disappearance is, however, only temporary, for, as announced some time ago, he has become reconciled with Sir Arthur Sullivan, and the result will be a renewal of collaboration at the Savoy.

EX-KING MILAN. PARIS, NOV. 28.—The newspaper La Paix today has a story which states that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for ex-King Milan's abdication was his desire not to be troubled by the rapid increase of the imperial debt and of the army and navy expenditures. He contended that it was inevitable, the event of war, that a number of the German states should become bankrupt. How, he asked, could such immense masses of troops be longed and fed. Expressions had recently been used which implied that the emperor's soldiers the idea that they might be employed, not only against a foreign foe, but also against an enemy within the empire.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the tariff. He said: "The American has entered the market of the world, and still hungry. By Christmas, however, it will have what it wants, cheap and enough. American goods are to be sold in the market of the world, and this is a great thing for the American people."

It is announced that Emperor William will supervise the formation of a commission for the reform of the German constitution. The commission will be composed of members of the Reichstag and of the government. It will be charged with the task of preparing a new constitution for the German empire.

THE CHINESE REBELLION. LONDON, NOV. 28.—The Times this morning published a dispatch from its correspondent at Shanghai, which confirms the report that the trouble in China is becoming more serious. It is stated that the rebels are now in possession of the city of Shanghai, and that they are preparing to march on the imperial capital, Peking.

THE TEXAS ALLIANCE. CORPUS, TEX., NOV. 28.—The anti-subversive members of the Farmers' Alliance, in convention here, have reorganized the Texas Alliance. The new constitution provides for the election of a president and a vice president, and for the election of a committee to represent the alliance at the national convention.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY. NEW YORK, NOV. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

BOSTON, NOV. 28.—S. G. Linscott of New York, secretary of the People's United States party, has been arrested by the Boston police. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

THE KIDNAPERS OF THE BEALS BOY BEHIND THE BARS.

The Mysterious Individual Who Received the Ransom from the Banker Yet Undiscovered.

The Abductors Removed to a Suburban Jail in Order to Avoid Mob Law—Their Colorado Career.

A New York Failure Develops Into a Gigantic Fraud—Securities Deposited as Collateral Hypothecated at an Enormous Discount for Loans—The Action of the Stock Exchange in the Matter—Minor Mention.

KANSAS CITY, NOV. 28.—Albert King, alias Dennis, alias Spinoza, who returned the kidnapped Beals child and secured the ransom of $20,000, is now in the city jail. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction, and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $20,000 ransom last night. He was entering a house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night, when he was arrested. He had opened the door to a policeman, who had been placed there in expectation that he might return, placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched, and a revolver was found in his pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He refused to say anything about the abduction. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, NOV. 28.—The attempt of Manager D'Oyley to establish genuine national opera at the Royal English opera house has resulted in failure. His production of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe," of which much was expected, ended in a total failure. The opera was poorly received by the audience, and the manager was forced to cancel the production.

Until the withdrawal of his last piece from the Savoy theater, Mr. Gilbert's name had not been absent from the bills of the London theaters nearly a quarter of a century. His disappearance is, however, only temporary, for, as announced some time ago, he has become reconciled with Sir Arthur Sullivan, and the result will be a renewal of collaboration at the Savoy.

EX-KING MILAN. PARIS, NOV. 28.—The newspaper La Paix today has a story which states that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for ex-King Milan's abdication was his desire not to be troubled by the rapid increase of the imperial debt and of the army and navy expenditures. He contended that it was inevitable, the event of war, that a number of the German states should become bankrupt. How, he asked, could such immense masses of troops be longed and fed. Expressions had recently been used which implied that the emperor's soldiers the idea that they might be employed, not only against a foreign foe, but also against an enemy within the empire.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the tariff. He said: "The American has entered the market of the world, and still hungry. By Christmas, however, it will have what it wants, cheap and enough. American goods are to be sold in the market of the world, and this is a great thing for the American people."

It is announced that Emperor William will supervise the formation of a commission for the reform of the German constitution. The commission will be composed of members of the Reichstag and of the government. It will be charged with the task of preparing a new constitution for the German empire.

THE CHINESE REBELLION. LONDON, NOV. 28.—The Times this morning published a dispatch from its correspondent at Shanghai, which confirms the report that the trouble in China is becoming more serious. It is stated that the rebels are now in possession of the city of Shanghai, and that they are preparing to march on the imperial capital, Peking.

THE TEXAS ALLIANCE. CORPUS, TEX., NOV. 28.—The anti-subversive members of the Farmers' Alliance, in convention here, have reorganized the Texas Alliance. The new constitution provides for the election of a president and a vice president, and for the election of a committee to represent the alliance at the national convention.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY. NEW YORK, NOV. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

BOSTON, NOV. 28.—S. G. Linscott of New York, secretary of the People's United States party, has been arrested by the Boston police. He is charged with having received the government about $5,000.

THE KIDNAPERS OF THE BEALS BOY BEHIND THE BARS.

The Mysterious Individual Who Received the Ransom from the Banker Yet Undiscovered.

The Abductors Removed to a Suburban Jail in Order to Avoid Mob Law—Their Colorado Career.

A New York Failure Develops Into a Gigantic Fraud—Securities Deposited as Collateral Hypothecated at an Enormous Discount for Loans—The Action of the Stock Exchange in the Matter—Minor Mention.

KANSAS CITY, NOV. 28.—Albert King, alias Dennis, alias Spinoza, who returned the kidnapped Beals child and secured the ransom of $20,000, is now in the city jail. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction, and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $20,000 ransom last night. He was entering a house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night, when he was arrested. He had opened the door to a policeman, who had been placed there in expectation that he might return, placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched, and a revolver was found in his pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He refused to say anything about the abduction. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I know nothing about it," he said.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, NOV. 28.—The attempt of Manager D'Oyley to establish genuine national opera at the Royal English opera house has resulted in failure. His production of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe," of which much was expected, ended in a total failure. The opera was poorly received by the audience, and the manager was forced to cancel the production.

Until the withdrawal of his last piece from the Savoy theater, Mr. Gilbert's name had not been absent from the bills of the London theaters nearly a quarter of a century. His disappearance is, however, only temporary, for, as announced some time ago, he has become reconciled with Sir Arthur Sullivan, and the result will be a renewal of collaboration at the Savoy.

EX-KING MILAN. PARIS, NOV. 28.—The newspaper La Paix today has a story which states that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for ex-King Milan's abdication was his desire not to be troubled by the rapid increase of the imperial debt and of the army and navy expenditures. He contended that it was inevitable, the event of war, that a number of the German states should become bankrupt. How, he asked, could such immense masses of troops be longed and fed. Expressions had recently been used which implied that the emperor's soldiers the idea that they might be employed, not only against a foreign foe, but also against an enemy within the empire.

Herr Bismarck, continuing, said that, as Chancellor, he was bound to support the bill. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

At this point the vice president of the Reichstag, Count Hatzfeldt, interrupted the speaker, refusing to allow the emperor's son to be subjected to criticism. Herr Bismarck said that he would leave his seat and that he would not be present at the next session. He then left the Reichstag.

Herr Bismarck again called Herr Buhl to order, declaring that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Herr Bismarck replied that Prince Louis had not been taken into custody in a house, and that he was not a prisoner. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

Chancellor von Caprivi said that he believed that the country appreciated the efforts made by the government for the extradition of Prince Louis. He declared that the emperor's son was a man of high character and that his extradition was a matter of honor for Germany. He also declared that the bill was necessary for the maintenance of the empire's dignity.

The conflict between the four great American life insurance companies—the Mutual, the New York Life, the Germania and the Equitable—and the finance ministry over the law proposed by the government to invest the premiums received in Germany in 3½ per cent. Prussian bonds, continues. Hon. William Walter Phelps, the American minister at Berlin, has secured a revocation of the government's demand, with a proposal of obtaining the return of the law.

Minister Phelps, on Thanksgiving Day, in a speech delivered at a banquet, appeared to anticipate a reduction in the